The Camper’s Guide to Alberta Parks
Welcome to the Camper’s Guide to Alberta’s Provincial Campgrounds

Our Vision: Alberta’s parks inspire people to discover, value, protect and enjoy the natural world and the benefits it provides for current and future generations.

Since the 1930s visitors have enjoyed Alberta’s provincial parks for picnicking, beach and water fun, hiking, skiing and many other outdoor activities. With over 470 locations all over the province, Alberta Parks strives to balance conservation and recreation needs by conserving natural habitat for wildlife while providing places for visitors to enjoy nature or embark on an adventure.

In this guide we have included over 200 automobile accessible campgrounds located in Alberta’s provincial parks and recreation areas. More details about these campgrounds, as well as group camping, comfort camping and backcountry camping, can be found at albertaparks.ca.

◆ Reserving Your Campsite

Online campsite reservations open annually in February. You can reserve individual campsites up to 90 days in advance of your arrival. Group camping and comfort camping reservations can be made for the entire season. For start dates check reserve.albertaparks.ca.

◆ First-Come, First-Served Camping

More than a hundred of Alberta Parks campgrounds are first-come, first-served. This allows campers to be more flexible with their camping, particularly mid-week. You can make new friends from different parts of the province or even from outside Alberta.

Join us in looking after our environment and each other by being a good neighbour!
• Keep your noise level down. Silence your phones.
• Respect other campers. Be considerate of their personal space.
• Keep pets under control. Keep them on leash.
• Clean up after yourself. Pick up everything and carry it out.
• Dispose of waste properly. Do not litter.
• Reduce the possibility of wildlife interactions by storing food and other scented items in a hard-sided vehicle or motorhome when not in use.

To find out more, download the regulations brochure from albertaparks.ca or ask for one at the park.

For More Information

albertaparks.ca has a wealth of information. Use “Find a Park” to see where a park is located and driving instructions on how to get there. Many Alberta Parks campgrounds also have maps and park guides you can download from albertaparks.ca to help you with your trip planning.

For up-to-date trail reports, liquor bans, wildlife advisories, fire bans and other important details, go to albertaparks.ca/advisories or call 1–866–427–3582 toll-free.

Visit Alberta Parks in your community, or discover new favourites in other parts of the province. Join us on Parks Day, every year on the third Saturday of July, to celebrate and care for these special places.

Explore Alberta Provincial Parks and Recreation Areas

Whether you like mountain biking, bird watching, sailing, relaxing on the beach or sitting around the campfire, Alberta Parks have a variety of facilities and an infinite supply of memory making moments for you. It’s your choice – sweeping mountain vistas, clear northern lakes, sunny prairie grasslands, cool shady park lands or swift rivers flowing through the boreal forest. Try a park you haven’t visited yet, or spend a week exploring several parks in a region you’ve been wanting to learn about.

Good Camping Neighbours

Part of the camping experience can be meeting new folks in your camping loop. You can make new friends from different parts of the province or even from outside Alberta.
