

Protect Our Water Birds

Be A Responsible Paddler:

Big Lake is very important to many migratory waterfowl and shorebirds. Did you know that human presence can affect the survival of these birds and their young?

- Paddle quietly, use soft voices
- Never disturb any bird or bird colony or get between adults and young
- On Big Lake, don't go to shore unless absolutely necessary
- Stay out of the Special Protection Zone*
- Avoid water-based recreation during the nesting period: early May to early July

*See Lois Hole Centennial Provincial Park Special Protection Zone map

Lesser Yellowlegs (Photo: D. Vujnovic)

Franklin's Gull (Photo: D. Vujnovic)

Blue-winged Teal (Photo: D. Vujnovic)

For more information go to:

<https://www.albertaparks.ca/parks/central/lois-hole-centennial-pp/>

